Charles E. Grenier Instantly Killed In Cluny, Monday

Charles E. Grenier was instantly killed at Cluny, Monday, afternoon when a prop holding up a cruiser broke letting the boat fall on him.

F. Fairbrother had completed building a cruiser and with the help of Grenier was jacking it up to mount on a trailer to take to Lake McGraw for a trial run, when one of the props broke permitting the boat to drop. Grenier apparently thought the boat would roll over when it hit the ground and was crushed to death. He had never moved or went the other way he would have escaped.

The cruiser is a rather large boat weighing several tons and capable of carrying 40 or 50 people.

Cpl. Amy, R.C.M.P., and Corporal Fairbrother of Glendon investigated the accident and deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Mr. Grenier had farmed north east of Cluny and had been in the district for the past 25 years. During the past summer had worked for the C.P.R.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's Church, Cluny, after which interment was made in Glendon Catholic cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of G. W. Evans.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor Gleichen Call:

In the past few weeks much has been said for, and against, the action taken by the membership of the Alberta Farmers' Union, in declaring a non-delivery strike of farm produce. Apparently from material appearing in local papers throughout the province, it would appear there has been some misunderstanding regarding the facts leading up to strike action being taken, and the demands made to the federal cabinet in a brief presented at Ottawa, August 29.

The brief as presented, if carefully analyzed, is self-explanatory. The principal clause in the brief asks for the establishment of a fact finding board to determine, partly prices, partly personnel of such a fact-finding board. It is pointed out that the Alberta Farmers' Union membership organizations, labor, business and government. The establishment of such a fact-finding board has been approved by so many groups, not connected with agriculture, that their voluntary and unsolicited support has resulted in the opponents of strike action misconstruing this support and publishing statements to the effect that policies of the A.F.U. are being directed by various political parties and labor unions. The board of directors of the A.F.U. has this opportunity to deny such statements. All policies of the Alberta Farmers' Union are formulated by the members of the Union themselves and the board is elected by the members to carry out their mandates.

The efforts of the Alberta Farmers' Union are directed toward the establishment of price levels for agricultural products in relation to prices of all other commodities. It is pointed out that the A.F.U. is not a strike organization, but a group of producers of a spiral of increasing prices. Our main objective is security for agriculture.

Agriculture, being the basic industry, is the foundation of prosperity for all other groups in the province. If agriculture fails, so does labor and business. We therefore appeal to the general public and small business men to stand behind agriculture and support to the farmers in their efforts. Security for agriculture will prevent another depression such as we experienced in the hungry "thirties". To help the farmer, it is to help Canada as a whole.

Propaganda has been published and broadcast in an effort to create a rift between farmers and wage workers, and even among the farmers themselves. It has been charged that labor unions are sabotaging production by strike action, and it is implied that, in the case of machinery, labor is responsible for the shortage of farm machinery which the farmer needs so badly.

Labor and farmer do not strike for the purpose of sabotaging production.

WATERWORKS PLEBISCITE MONDAY, OCTOBER 28

Here is briefly the extent of the proposed water system:

1. The tower will be repaired giving additional storage of 50,000 gallons of water in case of pumping failure or fire.

2. The underground storage tank will also be used, giving 50,000 gallons of water to supply demand in case of fire.

3. A six inch cast iron "Main" line will begin at the tower and after completing a large circle will end at the tower thus giving double service in case of line trouble or repairs or additions to be made, assuring practically continuous service.

4. The "Main" will extend from tower down 4th Avenue to Main Street then east to 8th Avenue (two blocks east of highway), then north to the last residence and west along school ground back to tower.

5. Hydrants will be installed at all strategic points to give maximum fire protection.

6. One additional well is provided for in the estimates assuring ample water supply.

7. All present users will be served and many more new outlets will be provided.

8. A fire pump supplying 500 gallons per minute against 150 pounds pressure will be installed at the underground storage tank operated by a gasoline engine to eliminate uncertainty of operation due to possible power line failure resulting from fire or other causes.

9. This same pump will be used to boost water into the tower for storage. This engine will not be subject to the $1.00 per H.P. per month required for electric motors which would amount to a saving of about $15 per month at least.

WHEN THE IRRIGATION PIPES ARE DUE FOR REPLACEMENT which will come sooner or later, THE SAME SYSTEM WILL BE ABLE TO SUPPLY IRRIGATION WATER AS WELL AS DOMESTIC SUPPLY. All outlying residences will then get irrigation water in the summer but not in winter on account of frost.

WATCH FOR THIS SPACE NEXT WEEK!

W. SUTERMEISTER, Mayor.

Such action is only taken as a last resort to try and better an "always too low standard of living." In the case of the farmers—after passing resolutions and begging for many long years for remedial measures, with very little result, they have decided as a last resort, to take strike action. A complete study of the position of agriculture and the demands made by the Alberta Farmers' Union in the brief presented to Ottawa, will greatly clarify the situation and prove the justification of the action taken.

R. J. BOUTILLIER,
Secretary, Alberta Farmers' Union.

After a careful study of the working of our immigration act the facilities, resources and capacity of Canada to absorb, employ and maintain immigrants and the types and availability of possible immigrants, a committee of the senate issued a report that should be widely read. The committee pressed the urgency of law need for action—outlined the possibilities and advantages for agricultural and industrial, and found a great need for domestic help. It reported that Canadian labor was not opposed and in fact had urged that Canada "should share with the other nations the world to solve the refugee problem and that we should grant refugees to our full share of displaced persons." The committee reported that people from the British Isles had the advantage of a common language and a knowledge of Canadian institutions but that Great Britain's main power should not be depleted. Polish and Ukrainian immigrants were available in numbers and were from Holland and Denmark.

"Canadians are a Christian people, very human and very ready to discharge their moral obligations," the committee reported. Changes in our immigration act are necessary and shipping must be found now to bring these people to Canada. Political action is necessary. Committees organized in each community could request a definite number of refugees and give aid and welcome when they come.

On Echoes and Libraries

After two world wars and one world depression citizens of our Canadian prairies, with people everywhere, are searching for a key to peace and happiness. In the present changing world the need is for values that will provide a base for constructive living. In Western Canada, today, definite trends are evident that the pioneer precept of "making a living" as a principal motive is passing, and there is growing appreciation of the need of the complementary cultural force of "a way of living."

"Pioneer History." The latest addition to regional prairie history in this transitional movement is a book called "Third Crossing" by Dr. G. F. C. Stanley. "Third Crossing" is essential for the knowledge of our homes and prairie community life.

"Third Crossing" is the story of the history of Manitoba and the prairie from the "Birth of Western Canada" (1870-1885) by Dr. G. F. C. Stanley. "Third Crossing" is essential for the knowledge of our homes and prairie community life.

DEMOCRACY'S CRUCIBLES

By REV. WATER B. SIEBER

Democracy is in the crucible today as ever before. These difficult times for all human institutions, and difficulties in the life of any nation. The Crucibles refine; then burn out the dross and leave only the pure gold. And democracy must be purified of its dross during these post-war testing days. If it cannot be made to serve humanity's needs in all its spheres it may perish in the fires of human need.

Our post-war days have reduced all the nations organizations and the world's organization to a state of fluidity. This is the moral significance of the tumbling of thrones and governments accompanying the post-war reconstruction period.

A moral process does accompany even the greatest tragedies and catastrophes in the life of any nation. This must be so because the world order, rather the order of the Universe its moral Order, based on moral foundations.

Democracy, too, has its moral core, underlying it and sustaining it. It is the moral significance of the moral concepts of mutuality of life and the equal rights of every individual here on this earth.

In its early struggles democracy had for its purpose chiefly the striking off of the shackles which kings and governing lords had fastened upon their subjects. The individual wanted to be free; decide the destiny of his own life as far as possible. He wanted being only a pawn in the checkerboard of war on which kings and nobles played their games for power and prestige. They felt life to nobles to exchange life for a bit of real estate for their rulers. And the world is not yet free from its imperialistic sins.

But people must have some form of government. And they wanted a vote in the selection of those who should govern them. They wanted the power in their own hands to dethrone, or destroy tyrants. This struggle has been a long one and is not yet at an end.

The purging and double-dealing which is not yet alien to the political parties in power, or in search for power, must be purged if democracy is to serve adequately in the new world, and this atomic age. Greed and lust for power that disregards moral values must go.

Briefly, this was the spirit underlying the early struggle for democracy in the political field: The struggle against the abuse of power against the rulers' habits of dominating human life and personality.

It is this phase of democracy which Russia has seen fit to ignore. Thus the subject is still but a cog in the machinery of the state, but in the economic machinery as well. Should the question of the "right" method of loudly danger hangs over his head, and sometimes authorities strike with lightning-like swiftness to destroy the enemies that might endanger the foundations of dictatorships.

Why, then, you ask, does Russia insist on her calling herself a democratic nation? You do not understand her language.

Since the turn of the century amid the industrial development that has accompanied this period the economic life and habits of nations have undergone vast changes. Governments, even in democratic countries have been compelled to take a hand at regulating economic and industrial life of the nation. They have in many cases done this more reluctantly than most people think. And in some instances they have been forced to do large proportion of its people.

Russia, since the Soviet revolution was sadly lacking in her industrial and economic developments. Hence, after the revolution, which had a materialistic purpose of bettering economic conditions of the people, they neglected the development of political democracy and retained much of the harsh and severe ruling ideas of the tsar in the old Czar's regime. But they sought to apply democracy to a leveling upwards of the economic life of the people.

This is why we, who think of democracy in political terms, cannot understand the Russian who thinks of it in terms of economic well-being. Freedom from want—not spiritual or moral freedom is the foundation of democracy in economic terms, not in political terms as we do.

They do not think us democratic in the true sense. They do not speak of

Progress Towards Unity

A LITTLE MORE THAN A YEAR has now elapsed since the war ended, and it is already apparent that the peace which was so eagerly awaited has, up to the present at least, been uneasy. There is still much basis for hope that plans for world co-operation and prolonged peace may be worked out, but there are also indications that much time and patience may be required before these hopes can be realized in every part of the world. It has frequently been observed that the British Commonwealth of Nations might well be taken as an example of what could be accomplished on a world scale in the way of unity among nations, and the close co-operation between Britain, Canada and the United States during the war offered further tangible proof of the practicability of united effort on an international basis.

Canada Continues To Co-operate

At the present time Canada is continuing to co-operate both with Britain and the United States in matters of defence and military science. Because of this country's geographic position, our interests in defence are linked with the United States in matters affecting this hemisphere, and with Britain in respect to Empire defence. It is reported from London that "unobtrusive steps are being taken to assess and improve commonwealth and empire defence organizations and to keep abreast of developments in military science." It is also emphasized, however, that "all discussions of commonwealth defence by United Kingdom officials are prefaced by two statements: first, that they look forward to the United Nations eventually taking over international defence duties; and second, that the commonwealth governments are independent and make their own decisions, London simply being the seat of one of the governments."

A Link Between Great Powers

Hemispheric defence is already under the competent direction of the Canada-United States defence board, of which the Hon. Lester McNight is co-chairman. General McNight is also Canada's representative on the United Nations committee. It is clear that Canada, through her close ties with both the British Commonwealth and the United States will continue to carry out the important role she assumed during the war, as a strong link between the two great English-speaking powers. In war, these people showed what tremendous results could be achieved when their efforts and resources were united for a common purpose, and there is a growing opinion in favour of close co-operation between the British Commonwealth and the United States as the only means of assuring world security and continued peace. Canada has already clearly demonstrated her interest and approval in such co-operation.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—I have heard ration coupons have been issued to the armed services and temporary farm helpers referred to as "Beaver" coupons and also "Buffalo" coupons. Is there any difference between these coupons?

A—"The Beaver" coupons was the name given to unnumbered ration coupons. After September 30 these coupons are to be replaced by the "Buffalo" coupons. The "Beaver" coupons will be invalidated as of Thursday, October 31, 1946, which cover the purchase of meat, sugar, preserves and butter. The "Beaver" coupons which cover the purchase of evaporated milk expire on December 31, 1946.

Q—When is the Wartime Prices Trade Board going to terminate the issuing of priority ration certificates to ex-servicemen and women?

A—No priority ration certificates will be issued after October 30. However, those certificates issued prior to October 30 will be honoured until the end of this year by clothing merchants and tailors.

Q—I did not obtain my ration book during the week of distribution. Do I have to go to the local ration board for my book?

A—Any persons who do not secure their ration books during the distribution period should mail their application card RB 101, fully made out and signed, to any local ration board in their vicinity. In this case, the card should be detached from the ration book itself should not be mailed, and the new book will be forwarded as soon as possible. The application card is found at the back of ration book five.

Q—Are we still supposed to turn in meat tokens and coupons which we do not need for our own use?

A—Every coupon and token turned in means more meat can be shipped overseas to the hungry areas. Turn in all coupons and tokens that can be used by the Location Ration Board in your district or the registered custodian of an organization.

Please send your questions or request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your calling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Reckless Drivers

Judgment Handed Down In Arizona

In a manslaughter case, automobile drivers in general, and reckless drivers in particular, should mark with more than casual interest a judgment handed down recently in Phoenix, Arizona, in a manslaughter case arising out of a traffic accident. A young man who pleaded guilty to responsibility for the death of a young woman who was the mother of two children, was fined by the judge to turn over each payday "not less than ten per cent of his earnings" for support of the two children until they reach the age of 21. One of the children is four years old, and is only three months—Montreal Gazette.

BEING MICROFILMED

National Registration Card Record Will Take Up Small Space

National registration, which proved itself useful in wartime emergency and wedged itself firmly into Canadian life during its six years of existence, already is well on its way to being completely dismantled.

Since it joined other outmoded war restrictions on the discard pile last Aug. 15, the staff in charge of the records, once numbering about 300, has been cut to half.

Now the 8,250,000 registration cards will be microfilmed, and the original records, taking up more than 30,000 square feet of office space in one of Ottawa's temporary buildings, will be reduced to a custodian's staff of about 10.

And that's that. You may find it handy for identification purposes, but you can throw away that national registration certificate without the slightest fear of reprimand. Its official value is nil.

Handled Job Well

Scottish War Bride Was Britain's First Woman Bus Driver

What's in a man's job anyway? Mrs. William Reeve, a Scottish war bride who recently joined her husband in Quebec, Ont., says that during the war she was the first woman bus driver in the British Isles, was also a guard for German prisoners and has been a police-woman in Glasgow.

She drove her father's trucks at 14, attended an engineering school for three years and then turned police-woman in her home city. Came the war she took a man-sized job—driving trucks for the Glasgow Transportation Corporation. Later she drove a ration truck for the British Ministry of Food and for two years was in sole charge of transporting 50 German prisoners of war. About Canada she said "it is a swell country, except for the wee buses."

Order From McArthur

Statue Of Queen Victoria Must Be Returned To Hong Kong

The statue of Queen Victoria which General MacArthur has ordered the Japanese to find and restore to its site in Hong Kong will be remembered by many who lived in the '90s it stood at the corner of Horse Guards avenue on part of some land now covered by the War Office. Royal sculptures were then, as now covered by the War Office. The Minister responsible for the transfer of the statue to Hong Kong was Mr. Shaw-Lefevre, later Lord Eversley, of the last Gladstone Government.

Aboard The C.P.R. Weekly Convention Special Train

(Received too late for last issue)
About C.P.R. Weekly Newspaper Convention Special: A million dollars' worth of train hauled by a sleek "2400" C.P.R. engine, is rolling eastward tonight carrying more than 300 Canadian weekly newspaper editors to Halifax, site of their first annual convention since the war.

Thirteen of the Canadian Pacific Railway's latest models for travelling comfort—diners, sleepers, and club cars—made up his "convention city on wheels" which earlier today streamed out of Windsor Station at Montreal, where Canada's weekly newsmen had congregated from all over the country.

Last minute arrangements and details for the forthcoming meeting were being ironed out by Clarence V. Charters, managing director and secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association in close liaison with the association's board of directors and delegates were comfortably settled in their allotted quarters or busy renewing acquaintances with their buddies of the home town paper fraternity.

And Canadian Pacific officials had seen to it that conveniences were as near perfect as they could be for the newsmen, many of them top leaders in the business and civic life of their own communities. Comments were readily forthcoming that the thirteen-car train was marvellous so as to make it a typical convention headquarters.

Made up of the latest in equipment, remodelled since war's end with materials available, the streamlined rolling stock had in the centre two diners, with the kitchens adjoining. On either end of these diners were the company's popular "Laka" cars containing the latest in lounging comfort for the newsmen and their wives.

Here, after the evening meal, these air-conditioned "living rooms" were transformed into "smokers," a bridge game here and there on the customary "shop" talk while the train sped on into the night.

And speaking of the evening meal, here's what the travellers ate as they ate in a gastronomic way on a mealless day: celery, olives and radishes; tomato juice, cream of chicken with noodles. The main course led off with fresh Saint John Harbor salmon rushed to Montreal to catch this special train the same day; chicken pot pie with dumplings, fresh tomato omelet and roast Brome duckling with apple sauce. Boiled potatoes, garden peas, lettuce and tomato salad finished the course. For dessert it was a choice of apple pie with cheese, foie gras, ice cream with cake and Canadian cheese with crackers, with the customary beverages.

A newsmen like his news to the minute and the "latest" has been reaching the train in the form of special bulletins supplied by The Canadian Press and served by the Canadian Pacific communications department. These will be continued until the party reaches Halifax.

J. Hugh Campbell, manager of the C.P.R.'s department of public relations, was busy renewing acquaintances with many friends of long standing in the association which calls the late Col. George Ham, the Canadian Pacific's first public relations chief, one of its founders. A newcomer to weekly conventions was Jack Meander, press relations officer at Montreal, who handled most of the transportation requests as deputy for Edgar March, assistant manager in charge of press relations, who was ill this summer but was back on the job to wish the delegates his best as they left Windsor Station.

C. E. Cameron, assistant passenger agent from Montreal, and a Maritimer, is making the trip for the traffic department, representing George E. Carter, assistant passenger traffic manager, who made the latest equipment available for this train to his old home city of Saint John.

A Handy Tip

Janitors Have An Easy Way To Wash Painted Walls

Stop! Don't wash walls from the top down. Wash it from the bottom up. And when you finish, start it so it'll be easier to clean next time.

That's what the men said. They were janitors from 13 states who took a course at Columbia University to learn that cleaning is a science, not a chore.

It's like this, they theorized: When you tackle a wall from the top down, some of the dirty solution dribs on the sides, leaving a streak even after the wall is cleaned. But if you start at the bottom and some of the solution runs down the wall, it's easy to rinse off and won't stain.

For a slick finish, boil ordinary starch in water for 20 minutes, then cool. Thin the jelly-like substance with water to cream consistency. Applied with a wide brush, it dries to an invisible film (instead of paint) comes off with the dirt—Pathfinder.

Very Old Title

Family Has Held Office Of King's Champion Since 1377

The holder of that picturesque medieval office known as the "King's Champion" has just died in the United Kingdom. He was the man in the age of chivalry of riding into Westminster Hall on horseback and in armor to throw down before the coronation banqueters, his knight's gauntlet with the demand that if anyone present challenged the new king's right to the throne, he should come out and fight. The last time, however, the custom was observed was at the coronation of Queen Victoria's predecessor, King William the Fourth. The title of King's Champion has been hereditary in the Dynke family since 1377.

FENCED STRAW

By M. J. COLLINS

BILL TAYLOR liked the big city paper, even if it did come out a day late for its rural subscribers. It had lots of funnies, and he got a kick out of them.

He had been settled in his rocking chair on the verandah when Mary, his wife, bustled out with her sewing basket and sat in the other easy chair. By her very attitude he knew that she had something on her mind.

"Do you know that Oliva went over to that Gay Maltin's?" Mary said several minutes later and, preoccupied as he was with the funnies, Bill noticed the emphasis on "that".

Putting his newspaper down he peered over his glasses at the wife. "What's wrong with that?" he asked mildly. "Clay's bin around a corner, I'll admit, but I guess he's all right. I know you would rather see her go out with young Carson. He's a good fellow."

"I want you to have a talk with the young lady when she comes home tonight. Mary said firmly. "Forbid her to go out with Clay Maltin."

"That's very well so that," Mary jumped to her feet. "Don't sit there, Bill Taylor, and tell me how you thought of that."

"What do you think about it?" he asked. "You say I ever married a farmer. You do it?" She slammed the screen door.

"When Oliva came home Bill Taylor was a good deal better. "Why, father?" she exclaimed. "What are you doing up at this hour?"

"One of the cows was sort of sick so I was keeping an eye on her. Want anything to eat?" Oliva shook her head.

"Have a good time?" Instantly she was on the defensive and he knew Mary had been nagging her about going out with Clay Maltin.

"Very nice."

"I'm glad you did. Clay is quite a fellow. He's a good deal better than the girls and has fun. Probably won't ever settle down. We don't want you to settle down, yet, you're much too young. That Carson chap is the steady, serious type—although he seems to be an fool."

"Too much the settling down type for you, I should say. He's been married for years longer." He stopped further comment by biting into his sandwich.

"You're a dear, Dad," she cried, throwing her arms around him. "I do love you."

"Now you hustle off to bed," he chided. "Remember that heavy sleep."

He sat at the chinking. There was only one more detail to be attended to. Next evening an angry young Jack Carson drove over. Oliva was waiting, perched for he had phoned and said he had something to discuss. Bill had happened openly at him when he had said nothing.

The next day Oliva didn't mention what he had had to say but Jack Carson over again. Bill blocked his entrance at the verandah steps. "Mr. Carson," he said in a strong voice to your going out with my daughter."

"Oliva doesn't, and that settles that," Jack answered belligerently. Bill retired to his rocker and his fannies. When they had gone, Mary frowned out. "I heard you, Bill Taylor! Have you gone out of your mind?" she demanded. "You know he's a nice, young man."

"Now don't get ruffled. Remember that stack of buckwheat straw in the back field? The cattle wouldn't eat it. I put a fence around it and they knocked it down, so they could eat the straw. I kept putting it up and they kept knocking it down, first thing I knew, the stack was gone."

"What in the world are you talking about?"

"Well, people like what's over the fence, so I did a little fence building. I told Oliva Clay was all right and I went over and told Jack to stop peering my daughter, so now they're already broken the first fence. But they're engaged before the end of the month."

"Huh! Mary snorted. "Sometimes you make me wonder."

But he was wrong—by the end of the month they were married.

THE ONLY WAY

A horse was led into a house in York road, Northampton, through the kitchen and out by the back garden. That was the only way to get it back on the road again after it fell into the basement area of the house; it could not climb up the steps. The horse, a milk round, had bolted with the cart. The cart broke in two. Only two bottles of milk were saved. And they were not on the car. They were standing in front of the house.

Annual consumption of gasoline in automobiles alone in the United States amounts to 14,500,000,000 gallons.

BRASS SHORTAGE

Many Employees Released From Work Owing To Scarcity

MONTREAL—The Cannon Industries Limited in a statement said that, owing to a serious shortage of brass and copper strip, it had been found necessary to curtail operations at the company's ammunition works in Brownsville, Que.

Approximately 275 employees of the CIL ("Dominion") ammunition division might be met by the end of 1946 and that at the end of July shipments totalled approximately a normal year's supply. However, during May, supplies of brass and copper strip essential to the manufacture of ammunition had ceased entirely, owing to a prolonged strike at the Toronto works of a supplier.

As a result, production had declined at a time of depleted inventories.

"Caused by a wartime drop in sporting ammunition manufacture, the present shortage has been aggravated by low dealer and jobber stocks throughout the country," the CIL statement added.

Pickling Husbands

The Following Recipe At This Season Is A Very Good One

"Be careful of your selection, do not choose too young, and take only such as have been reared in a good moral atmosphere. When once decided upon and selected, let that person remain forever settled and give your entire thought to preparation for domestic use."

"Some thought on keeping them in a pickle, while others are continually getting them into hot water. This only makes them sour, hard and sometimes bitter."

Even pot varieties may be made sweet, good and tender by garnishing with patience, well sweetened with similar flavoured fruit, to taste; then wrap them in a mantle of charity, keep warm with a steady fire of domestic devotedness and pickles will cheer them. When thus prepared they will keep for years."

SELECTED RECIPES

- SPICE CAKE
- 1 cup butter
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 cup chopped floured dates
 - 1 1/2 cups cake flour
 - 1/2 tsp. Melted baking powder
 - Pinch of salt
 - 1/2 tsp. cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg
 - 1 cup cold milk

Method—Cream butter and sugar, add well beaten eggs, beat all together again. Mix thoroughly, at least three times, and add alternately with the water, starting with pan for about 45 minutes in 325 deg. F. A boiled icing is nice on this cake.

BISPY CHEESE PUFFS

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 egg, separated
- 1 pound grated American cheese
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 24 1 1/2-inch cubes of fresh bread (cut from unsliced loaf)

Method—Cream butter, add egg yolk and mix well. Add cheese, seasonings and bran; mix thoroughly. Add stiffly beaten egg whites and blend well. Spread mixture on five slices of bread cubes. Arrange on baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 24 puffs. Serve not as appetizers or with a green salad.

BANK CREDIT BRIDGES THE FINANCIAL GAP

Every day, business firms make use of bank loans to keep men working, machines running, goods flowing. This bank credit may be used to meet continuing expenses while goods are being processed; to build up stocks of raw materials; to purchase component parts. As finished goods reach the market and payment is received, the loan is repaid.

Enterprising farmers, fishermen, merchants—all make similar use of bank credit to meet their short-term financial needs. Thus your bank helps Canadians maintain steady operations—to take advantage of market opportunities both at home and abroad—to grow. And this, in turn means more work, more goods, a higher standard of living for you and for every Canadian.

A "big head" is a popular way of expressing a common and very frequent ailment. It arises from various sources, but the root foundation is a lack of sense. A little money develops in one people; a few good clothes gives it to others; a little chance where a chance is given to exercise a little authority it often the cause of it, while others get it having a little better job than their associates. The truth is no sensible person gets the "big head." The one becomes stuck up and stiff necked from sources of any kind, are weak in the intellectual caliber and usually think this is the trouble with the other fellow.

INDIAN SUMMER IN CANADA'S NATIONAL PARKS

"Indian Summer" is a term which has become part of the English language and is freely used throughout the English speaking world. Yet its origin is something of a mystery. This delightful Canadian season which was perhaps first known as "Second Summer" appears to have been first used by the earliest white settlers by native Indians. This might account for its being named "Indian Summer."

Until the advent of this "extra season" many amateur weather prophets will assure you that summer has merely taken a short vacation and will be back again before the arrival of "Old Man Winter." While Indian Summer is an unpredictable phenomenon, not usually forecast by the weatherman, there is no mistaking its actual arrival, but its duration may vary from year to year. Unlike the Chinook winds which blow from the western mountains, warming the valleys and melting the prairie snow, there is generally an absence of wind during this "second" period. It is usually characterized by days of quiet mild weather accompanied in some parts of Canada by a heavy atmosphere of dust and clear, crisp nights.

Whatever may be said about Indian Summer it is the general consensus of opinion that it is the most agreeable as well as the most invigorating period of the year for out-of-door recreation. This is particularly true of autumn in the national parks. After the first few light frosts deciduous trees don their mantle of brilliant foliage. The woods along the park highways become a riot of color—orange, gold, green, crimson, and many other vivid, variegated combinations which nature blends into a harmonious pattern for its own special fall showing. Wild life, no doubt sending the approach of winter, is also active and busy and more easily seen. Big game animals, which are one of the chief attractions of many of these parks, are more easily stalked as they move about and rustle the dead leaves. The park highways and byways are less busy at this time of year, and the cool crisp autumn air makes cycling, bicycling, and riding more enjoyable than ever.

ing, and riding more enjoyable than ever. When the day's activity is over, evening around the camp stove, a camp fire can become a most enjoyable and comfortable experience and develop a very pleasant moment when the canoeist can paddle farther than he can select many trips that would have been rather tedious during the rest of summer. Fish are biting well and there is an absence of mosquitoes and other annoying insects. Migratory birds are restless and are more in evidence as they prepare for their south flight for winter. There are generally greater opportunities for bird watching, photography and sightseeing.

Much has been written about the vivid beauty of the Canadian landscape in autumn, but it is only by getting into the open, exploring the woods and streams, lakes and mountains, the roads and trails through valleys painted with nature's glorious autumn colorings, that one can truly appreciate the spirit of this season and feel the thrill of its magic spell. The enjoyment derived from a trip through the national parks of Canada in autumn is an experience that will not easily be forgotten.

STRIKE ACTION BRIEF
ALBERTA FARMERS' UNION
TOGETHER WITH
UNITED FARMERS OF CANADA (SASKATCHEWAN SECTION)
Presented
DOMINION CABINET IN AUGUST, 1946
This brief is being presented by the Alberta Farmers' Union and the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan Section), representing a total of 160,000 members.

This delegation has come to Ottawa with a very definite purpose. Since their inception, the farm organizations which we represent, have worked to one end, and that is to secure parity for the agricultural portion of our population. By parity we mean a division of the National Income which will ensure farmers their fair share. According to latest available figures, Agriculture now receives about 20% of the National Income, notwithstanding the fact that one-third of the people of Canada are employed in Agriculture.

During the war, Canadian farmers submitted to intolerable conditions, to assist the National war effort but they will no longer tolerate such disparity. The dissatisfaction engendered by this situation is seriously affecting production in the West at the present time.

We consider the announced duties of the Food and Agriculture Organization (F.A.O.) to establish a measure of stability in the Agricultural Industry, in order that a maximum production of high quality food may be maintained, to be of the utmost importance to us, at this time. It is the considered opinion of the Western Canadian farmers that a measure of high rate of efficient production is absolutely essential that farmers be paid a price for their products that will provide an equitable standard of living.

We maintain that any price paid for farm products which prevents or makes it impossible for farmers to maintain a high rate of efficient production, lower in consumption, lower in standard of living, lower in production, keeping in mind the possible future need for some means of stabilization and possibly controlled production.

Do You Remember Twenty Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Jones and family left Gleichen Monday for Standand where they will make their home in future. Mr. Jones will be manager at Standand. J. A. Bogalis's implement business here.

Aut Wilson will take up his residence in the new fire hall, of which he will be the manager. The former telephone exchange building is being remodelled for the purpose and Mr. Wilson is just the boy to keep it warm and in good shape all the time.

Snow, snow and more snow has been steadily dealt out in the way of weather since Monday night until it has indeed become discouraging to not only our farmers but everybody else. There is still considerable grain to cut in this district which it is a good thing that the time is threatening to show whatever.

Mrs. W. Schmidt has left for Minneapolis to visit her former home.

The Bank of Nova Scotia is opening a branch office in Quenston. They have secured office accommodation in the Jennings block.

Mrs. Jacob Scholten left a few days ago to visit her former home in Minnesota.
